N. Y. AWAITS REPEAL GONG

New York, Dec. 4 (AP)—The cocktail hour tomorrow will find Manhattan's gulp-and-pray age ended and the sip-and-savor era begun—but the town is not hysterical about it.

Black-balled steamers arrived carrying old Madeira, rare Burgundies and cointreuses. In Canada bonded cars crammed with whiskies and liquors awaited word from Utah.

In many warehouses workmen stacked giant trucks high with liquor, ready to dash away to hotels and clubs. One warehouse alone holds 200,000 cases of aged-in-the-wood American rye, unblended.

New York city, never parched, day was reading columns of pointers on liquors and wines, and bent on getting the real stuff.

Most prognosticators foresaw for tomorrow night all such scenes as convulsed Broadway on the night of June 30, 1919, when the dry era began.

Then gay dogs, turned mournful, carried John Barleycorn's bier down the avenue, girls danced on tables in the Cafe des Beaux Arts, and motorists fairly swarmed to Greenwich Village's "third rail."

Tomorrow—in the opinion of that old-time host, Theodore of the Blue—will be "a jolly but decorous day."

Jerome of Sherry's flicked a speck from his liveried arm and opined that "the young generation will need a deal of training, but in time the bathtub gin influence will die."

HUGE RAIL JUNK GOES TO JAPAN

Windsor, Dec. 4.—The last link between Canadian industry and the purchasing agents for the Czars of Imperial Russia will be wiped out by the end of this year when the huge quantities of old Russian railway materials which have lain in the Canadian Pacific yards here since the war will be shipped to Japanese ports.

ROOSEVELT RUSHES REPEAL

Washington, Dec. 4 (AP)—President Roosevelt, on returning from Georgia today, found the imminence of prohibition repeal thrusting tax and other problems for ward for action and prepared to do his part toward settlement.

Among the first to be consulted by him was Acting Secretary of Treasury Henry Morgenthau, Jr., under whom the multiple taxes on liquor will be collected and whose recommendations on the subject are being formulated for Congressional action.

The State Department made ready for quick proclamation of repeal when it hears by telegraph from the Utah convention, as the 26th to act, in mid-afternoon tomorrow.

A Presidential proclamation is expected simultaneously to assert the fact of repeal, thereby marking the end-effective January 1—of taxes estimated at $222,000,000 a year. This will reduce the federal gasoline tax a half cent a gallon, making it one cent; and eliminate the taxes on dividends, capital stock and the increased excess profits levy.

Meanwhile, studies looking toward liquor tax increase will be prosecuted vigorously to enable Congress to make an early decision after it meets in January. Until new laws are fixed, the whiskey rate $1.10 a gallon, as it has been throughout prohibition years. General opinion expects a rate of between $2.20 and $3 a gallon to be set.

The House ways and means committee started today to revamp much tax legislation, aiming to increase federal income with the aid of liquor taxes by $600,000,000 a year. The session was executive, but it was made plain that much attention would go to stopping up any loopholes in the income tax system.

HEARST MONETARY TASK WINS PRAISE OFFER

Radio Priest Says Noted Publisher's Plan to Enlarge Basic Money Coincides With His Idea

By JOHN F. BRENNAN
Staff Correspondent of the Boston Evening American and Boston Sunday Advertiser

Royal Oak, Mich., Dec. 4.—Praise for the liberal policies of Hearst newspapers throughout the nation was voiced by Rev. Charles E. Coughlin, at the rectory of the Shrine of the Little Flower, after perhaps the most dramatic and crucial broadcast in his radio career.

Fr. Coughlin's broadcast Sunday, in which he called for a show-down by Al Smith or "any duly appointed representative," and in which he predicted a withering blast at J. Pierpont Morgan and the Tory press, drew one of the largest crowds in history to the shrine of the Little Flower.

Fr. Coughlin declared: "Mr. Hearst's reflation policy is identical with the normalization plan which I am advancing. 'Both of us wish to enlarge the basic money, also sound and adequate currency money.' UP TO 'ALL' NOW

"Mr. Hearst's newspapers are certainly not to be considered in any way with the Tory press and their practices."

Fr. Coughlin went into ecstasies after his broadcast sermon, in which he stated that success or ruin for the nation depends upon a remedy for monetary troubles.

"He exhorted by the order of his most vigorous broadcast to such depth that the crowd, which rain, drew a record crowd. Shortly before he went on the air, the sun broke through the clouds and was hailed as an omen by the crowds."

Fr. Coughlin declared that the next move in the South controversy now was up to the former governor himself. Asked what he intended to do, or say next, concerning Smith, Fr. Coughlin said: "The matter now all depends as far as I am concerned unless he wants to take advantage of the offer that I made him this afternoon."

Through the Boston Evening American, Fr. Coughlin also extended a special message of appreciation and gratitude to the people of Boston and New England. He said:

"I am very grateful to the people of Boston for their friendship, their trust, all their generous favors and the fine moral support they have afforded me."

Fr. Coughlin also told the crowd that his intention for the coming week is to plunge back into the regular routine as pastor of the Shrine of the Little Flower.

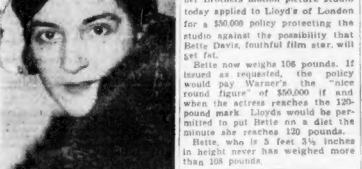

HUNDREDS OF LETTERS
"I am pleased to receive," he said, "in ordinary office work, answering letters and advancing the work of building of the new church, work of which is now being completed."

The radio priest received hundreds of telegrams of approval from all parts of the country following his broadcast.

One of the most interesting messages was received from a New York, Dec. 4 (AP)—The peace officers shot each other to death today in a quarrel over a poker game at Vicks, out of here. The duels were Police Judge Bradley Boush, and the slain, and Dillard Middleton, 28, deputy sheriff of Marion county. Ten bullets pierced the druggist's

Has Ex-Beau Held BETTE DAVIS $50,000 'TWIN'

Hollywood, Dec. 4 (INB)—Warner Brothers motion picture studio applied to Judge of London for a $50,000 policy protecting the studio against the possibility that Bette Davis, famous film star, will act for.

Bette now weighs 106 pounds. If insured as required, the policy would pay Warner's the "nice round figure" of $50,000 if and when the actress reaches the 120-pound mark. Lloyds would be permitted to put Bette on a diet, and minutes she reaches 120 pounds. Bette, who is 5 feet 3 1/4 inches in height now, has weighed more than 106 pounds.

Magdalena, Sonora, Mex., Dec. 4 (AP)—Alice White, film actress, and Robert White, writer, whose marriage has been in the news since they were divorced in 1928, were here today for a party at the Mexican consulate in Mexico City. E. Haldeman-Julius Is Sued by Wife Pittsburgh, Pa., Dec. 4 (AP)—Mrs. Margaret Haldeman-Julius, wife of the Girard publisher, E. Haldeman-Julius, filed suit today here for separate maintenance and judgment of $25,000.

Mrs. Haldeman-Julius charged extreme cruelty, declaring her husband refused to supply her with funds for household expenses. She says he left home Nov. 13 and has not returned.

Several years ago Haldeman-Julius publicly became a champion of his companionate marriage doctrine of Ben S. Lindsay, former Judge Juvenile Court judge. Late in 1927, he adopted daughter, Josephine, and Aubrey Rose, embarked upon a companionate marriage.

Later the publisher and his wife went through a civil marriage ceremony, explaining they held the religious ceremony in Illinois in 1926 was not binding.

Attacker of Radio Priest Broadcasts Apology

New York, Dec. 4 (US)—The Rt. Rev. Magr. John L. Belford, of Brooklyn, who last Wednesday sharply criticized the Rev. Charles E. Coughlin for attacks on Alfred E. Smith, broadcast an apology to the Detroit priest yesterday.

Over a local hookup here, the veteran Brooklyn cleric said: "I desire to broadcast a humble and sincere apology to all whom I offended last Wednesday by the language of my newspaper interview."

"It was uncharitable. I deeply regret it. This is not an explanation or extenuation or excuse. It is an open confession. No one has ordered it or even suggested it. I am extremely sorry."

Before going on the air Magr. Belford wired his personal regrets to Fr. Coughlin in Royal Oak, Mich., where the "radio priest" said, after reading the telegram: "John Raskob will be next and Al Smith after him."

Unless he can find a mysterious and probably mythical—"Col. Farrell" to round up men and women for jobs under the National Recovery Act, Special Agent Allen of the Department of Justice told U. S. LACK OF HAIR is so unnecessary

NO SURE method of preventing baldness or re-growing hair was known thirty years ago. Then—men experimented with cure-all remedies which usually did more harm than good. Now—a few old-fashioned men still use their scalp as experimental laboratories for patent remedies and barber-shop treatments. But modern-minded men have learned that baldness can be avoided and hair can be re-grown, when proper specialized treatment is administered to the scalp.

Thinking men realize that the science of hair culture has advanced in pace with other scientific discoveries. They know that Thomas treatment offers the most precise, reliable method known to modern science, the various types of dandruff, stopping abnormal hair-fall, and re-growing hair on thin or bald spots. Thomas is helping 1500 persons each day to have good, healthy heads of hair—and can do the same for you.

GARFIELD RAILS R. HEARST'S AIR SPEECH

Washington, Dec. 4.—Praise for the radio address by the nation of William Randolph Hearst has come from leading supporters of President Roosevelt's drive to raise commodities through a cheaper dollar.

The publisher, in a speech broadcast from coast to coast, declared that dear money is not sound money, but "blood money," and that international bankers are fighting the President's inflationist measures in behalf of their own selfish interests.

Senator Thomas (D.) of Oklahoma, leader of the congressional currency expansionists, announced his approval of every word spoken by Mr. Hearst.

FIGHTS FOR PEOPLE

"The currency fight is an issue between the world gold bloc and the world anti-gold bloc," he declared. The gold bloc which is directing the attack on President Roosevelt's plan, consists of the Federal Reserve Board, the Banks of England, France and Holland and their allies. The bloc is making a last stand for control of government through control of money.

"Mr. Hearst has taken the side of the people in this fight, the people who must have more money to pay their debts and save their property."

"This question is no longer merely a national problem. It has become a world problem and embassies at Washington have their orders to use their influence on one side or the other. America has become the battlefield for this stupendous struggle."

PRaised BY FLETCHER

Strong approval of Mr. Hearst's stand was voiced also by Senator Fletcher (D.) of Maine, leader of the Senate banking inquiry. He has made such startling disclosures of banking methods, he said.

"Mr. Hearst's speech was splendid, and I agree with it. One of the great characteristics of Mr. Hearst is that he makes the subject clear."

"There is no ambiguity, no uncertainty in his analysis of the situation and his indictment of the financial powers who are 'hoarding' the money."

The address was "plain money" and I am sure it will have a useful effect."

THREE ESCAPE IN SHOOTING

and a light cap, was sent out by telephone.

Two men, picked up in South Boston shortly after the shooting, were released after they had been taken to Gannon's bedside at the hospital and asked to police in spectators.

"Those are not the men who shot me," shortly after they were released. Brighton police noticed a parked car answering the description of the one used in the shooting, standing in Brackett st., Brighton, and took into custody the alleged owner.

He proved that he was not in South Boston, but was held for being in possession of a gun under the alien law.

The only report on the wanted auto was received an hour after the shooting, when a patrolman announced a black sedan bearing several men had been seen driving along Warren st., Roxbury.

Police were fearful that the men in the machine might have been kidnapped or slain to prevent their from identifying the policeman's assailant. At the hospital it was said Gannon had suffered from loss of blood, but unless blood poisoning set in would recover shortly.

Woman and Brothers Face Bogus Bill Case

Danvers, Ct., Dec. 4 (AP).—Eva Gagnon, 28, of Oxford st., Fairfield, Mass., and her brothers, Alfred and Paul, were turned over to a Federal agent today for arraignment in Norwich, Conn., on charges of possessing counterfeit currency. Police said that more than $200 in counterfeit money was found in the auto Saturday night after it was stopped in Providence, R. I., on request of Connecticut officials and brought here for examination.

Dear Dollars Are Depression Dollars, Says W. R. Hearst

Mr. William Randolph Hearst spoke to the nation Saturday night over the coast to coast network of the National Broadcasting Co. Mr. Hearst's topic was "WHERE IS OUR MONEY?"

Mr. Hearst spoke as the guest of Mr. Merlin H. Aylesworth, president of the N. B. C. He was introduced to the vast air audience by Mr. Don E. Gilman, N. B. C. vice-president in charge of operations in the West. Mr. Hearst spoke from San Simeon, Cal. Complete text follows:

MY friends, I am going to talk to you about world finance and I feel a little bit like the man who was asked what the Einstein theory was. He said:

"Well, I never heard of that before, but if you will sit down here a minute, I will explain it to you."

I am frank to admit that I may not know all about this abstruse subject, but I am consoled by the fact that a great many world renowned experts appear to be in the same predicament.

However, there are certain things which we all know.

We know that money is the medium of exchange.

We know that instead of exchanging one horse for three suits of clothes, ten cans of tomatoes, and a bottle for the baby, we exchange the horse for so many dollars and with the dollars buy the other things as and when we want them.

We know that there must be enough money in circulation to enable such transactions to be performed.

WE know that the circulating medium is not composed entirely of actual money.

We know that as business and commerce have grown in nations and among nations there has been added to actual money certain equivalents of money such as checks, drafts and bills of exchange.

These perform all the functions of money and constitute a vital part of the circulating medium.

We know that actual money has not increased in proportion to the increase of world business, but has in fact tended to decrease on account of the world demonetization of silver.

But we know that bank deposit currency, namely checks, drafts and bills of exchange, have increased until they form, in periods of business activity, nine-tenths of the circulating medium.

Therefore we observe, to sum up, that in times of prosperity checks, drafts and bills of exchange, the equivalents of money, constitute nine-tenths of the circulating medium; and actual money, namely gold, silver and government notes, only one-tenth.

IN times of depression, however, the checks and drafts of business decrease drastically as business transactions decrease.

And since these are immensely the larger part of the circulating medium, this shrinkage obviously diminishes greatly the TOTAL circulating medium.

The less circulating medium there is the scarcer the unit of currency, namely the dollar, becomes.

Now, my friends, the scarcer the dollar, the dearer the dollar; and that means the more you have to give up in produce or products or property or labor in order to get these dear dollars.

Dear dollars are obviously good for the people who have them, and very bad for the people who have to GET them.

The bankers and the money-lending and money-owning classes generally possess a great part of these dear dollars.

They are largely locked up in the vaults of the banks.

MOREOVER, when the bankers do not possess them the government has been supplying the dollars to them through the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

In fact, you have been paying taxes to give money to the government to give to the bankers.

But when you want to borrow money from the bankers you have to give up your shirt—first, because the bankers will take nothing less, and second, because that is all you will have left after your taxes have been paid.

OF COURSE the bankers and the money-lending classes love dear dollars.

First, because they have them.

Second, because dear dollars buy more for them.

Third, because when loans are paid the bankers get the dear dollars of depression in place of cheap dollars they loaned in times of prosperity.

Fourth, because if the loans are not paid the bankers get the property.

Pretty soft for the bankers, say you.

YES, say I, but not so soft for the enterprising classes who borrow to build up industry and to employ labor and to increase the productive wealth of the nation.

Not so soft for those valuable, creative classes, when in times of depression they have to pay twice the value of what they borrowed or else lose the properties they have built up.

Soft enough, to be sure, for the money lenders who sit comfortably in their easy chairs and rake in their gains like croupiers in a great gambling house, where everything is safely fixed in favor of the bank.

NATURALLY the money lenders like dear dollars, and they call these dear dollars sound money to make it SOUND good to you and me.

But dear dollars are not sound money. They are BLOOD money.

They bring the last drop of blood from the hearts of the manufacturers, the merchants, the farmers, the laborers—yes, and from the financial and commercial veins of the nation.

THE money lenders are the Shylocks who want the last letter of their bonds, and Mr. Roosevelt,—"a wise young judge," "a Daniel come to judgment"—is trying to save the country from their clutches.

You know what the international bankers are and how little they care for the welfare of the nation.

You know how heartlessly they have betrayed the American public to foreign interests for the "pieces of silver" which were the compensation for their treachery.

And you know the influence of the international bankers in politics—how it is obtained and how it is exercised.

You remember Mr. Morgan's little presents to people in public life and how gratefully they were received and with what promises of services in return.

NOW the bankers are calling their henchmen to render the promised service, and the henchmen are responding with loyalty to the bankers and disloyalty to the public.

The fight is on to establish the dear dollar, the scarce dollar, the dollar of depression.

The bankers want you to pay them in hard money, in blood money, and they call easy money "baloney" money.

The phrase was invented by Mr. Morgan's political agent, Mr. Al Smith.

Mr. Smith is all right in some ways. He is wet and does a good song and dance.

But in this instance it would seem that he is ALL WET and is giving the public the song and dance.

MR. SMITH speaks the Tammany tongue and the word "baloney" is an important part of that limited vocabulary.

He used it in his campaign for the presidency. He said no matter how thin you cut it it's still baloney. The voters cut it pretty thin for Mr. Smith in that campaign. So, Mr. Smith went back to work for Wall Street.

Now he is campaigning for hard money, along with Mr. Morgan, fiscal agent for the British Empire, and Mr. Sprague, American advisor of the Bank of England, and along with the international bankers generally whose thoughts as you all know from exposure and experience, are centered on foreign loans and big commissions, rather than on the essential interests of the American people.

Mr. Roosevelt is striving to get the country away from the blood money of the Shylocks, away from the hard money of hard men.

He is trying to make money easier for the average citizen, easier to get, easier to earn, easier to save, easier to spend.

He is trying to give our people the easier money which foreign nations have ALREADY given their people.

He is trying to make it possible for our products to compete in the markets of the world, which they could never do under the dear dollar of depression.

HE is trying to protect our markets from a flood of foreign goods, made cheaply and effectively under the easy money foreign nations have established. He is trying to give our American people easy money so that they can and will buy more freely from the stores and so that the stores will order from the factories and so that both the stores and the factories will employ more labor.

He is trying to end unemployment and to give all of us comfort and contentment, prosperity and peace of mind.

Those here and abroad who know about finance declare that Mr. Roosevelt is on the right track.

Those who do not know so much about finance, but know something of human nature think it is safer to follow Mr. Roosevelt than the international bankers who have robbed us and betrayed us in the past and are apparently striving to establish the dollar of depression so they can plunder us again.

Probers Urge Change in Courts

Abolition of 18 district courts and 15 sittings of other local courts and the charges that people have lost confidence in the lower courts feature a partial report of the Special Commission on Public Expenditures to the Legislature.

The report on the general subject of reorganization of the lower court system also urges that judges of district courts be prevented from taking part in politics or practicing in their own or other courts within their appellate districts.

The political and lobbying activity of district court judges is also strongly criticized in the report, and the passage of legislation to put an immediate stop to these practices is urged in decisive terms.

Positions of the present district courts in the following places in the state are urged: Williamstown, Adams, Lee, Orange, Ware, Palmer, Chicopee, Westfield, Clinton, Westboro, Grafton, Milford, East Brookfield, Natick, Ayer, Amesbury, Ipswich, Peabody and Stoughton.

It is also recommended that all the Suffolk district courts be centralized under the chief justice of the supreme judicial court.

Chief justice of the supreme judicial court, when asked by reporters for a statement, replied through his secretary that he had no comment to make on the crime board's report.

Schools closed in the city and by the commission that names have been used.

First of all the crime commission reveals that Hoffman, after escaping from New Jersey State Prison on Sept. 2, 1931, came to Boston and was engaged for months as bodyguard for a notorious rum-runner, without molestation by police.

This rum-runner was slain and Hoffman then served another, and all the time he had no established residence in Boston.

The commission then relates Hoffman's capture for a Charles-Henry homicide on May 6, 1932, and states that many police officers, who saw him, heard him admit he was an escaped convict.

Boston police notified New Jersey authorities and obtained a fugitive from justice warrant which was later "lost" after reposing for weeks at headquarters.

Meanwhile, Hoffman was taken to Middlesex County, and a fugitive warrant was furnished Dist. Atty. Blahny by New Jersey authorities.

He was brought back to Suffolk County and no fugitive warrant was ever lodged at the jail, and then a bail plot was worked, the commission states, and he was released.

Hoffman then, according to the commission, hid up a cigarette truck in Charlestown and participated in the murder of Adolph Sommer, for which he is still sought.

The crime board considers it significant that after his mysterious return from jail, no fugitive warrant was put up as surety by a man who did not own the property he put up as surety.

Hoffman is still sought in the murder of Adolph Sommer, for which he is still sought.

ON TUESDAY, TOMORROW, there will be another meeting of the Provisional members of the Junior League. On November 22 they were told of the activities of the Boston League when Miss Dorothy Lawrence, Miss Edith Parker, Mrs. Laurence Lombard, Mrs. Edward H. Warren, Mrs. George F. Benis and Miss Ruth Gibson spoke to them.

This meeting will be held in the League ballroom and will deal with the national aspect of the Junior League movement, i.e., the Association of Junior Leagues of America. Mrs. Lyon Weyburn, director of region one for the past four years, will present her successor, Miss Margaret Mitchell of Montreal. Miss Ruth Gibson, vice-president of the Boston Junior League and chairman of the Provisional members, presides at these meetings for new members.

Due to repeated requests, Droz, Junior League chef, whose talks were so popular last year, will give an illustrated lecture on supper dishes in the lounge on Wednesday, December 6, at 11 o'clock. Members are invited and may bring guests for 50 cents per person.

Three interesting events at the Junior League Gallery will take place from December 4 until December 15 in relation to Christmas. There will be an exhibition and sale of Christmas cards by members, and a prize competition of creches, of such subjects as are seen in Beacon Hill windows on Christmas Eve, such as the Three Kings, Manger scene, Shepherds in Fields, etc. The third exhibition will be of crayon, chalk and oil portraits by Hazel Kimball. Miss Kimball will be at the gallery in person from the 4th until the 15th, having some of her sittings then, and will take orders during that time for portraits at a special Christmas price.

Luncheon to Follow Literary Talk

THERE WILL BE AN ADDED ATTRACTION this year at the Literary Mornings by Miss Emma Mills, for the benefit of the National Civic Federation and the People's Symphony Orchestra, in the form of a buffet luncheon to be served immediately after the talks, giving subscribers an opportunity to meet the guest speakers whom Miss Mills brings with her.

This course of lectures opens on Monday, Dec. 11, at 11 o'clock at the Hotel Statler and continues on Mondays, Jan. 8, 22 and Feb. 5. "The American Cavalier" is the subject of the first talk by Miss Mills. Among the guest speakers will be Mrs. Alice Tisdale Hobart, Miss Lucille Douglas and Mr. Laurence Binyon.

Mrs. Homer B. Richardson, who for many years was identified with the annual luncheons of the Civic Federation, will be in charge of the luncheon with the corps of assistants. Tickets for the luncheon may be obtained from her or from Mrs. Adolph B. Leeds, chairman of the luncheon ticket committee, at the Civic Federation headquarters, 45 Newbury st., Boston.

Mrs. Gardiner H. Fluke is in charge of the ushers. Miss Louise Coburn and Mrs. Arthur R. Granis comprise the floor committee. Mrs. Horace S. Frazer is chairman of publicity. Mrs. Harold G. Cutler, assisted by a group of girls, will preside at the book tables. Miss Elizabeth C. Leland is chairman of the ticket committee, to whom applications may be made for course tickets.

The sponsors for these Literary Mornings are Mrs. Hayward Parker Whittingham, chairman; Mrs. J. Mott Hallowell, vice-chairman; Mrs. Moses Williams, treasurer, and Mrs. Francis H. Cummings, secretary.

Vincent Club Girls to Sing

OF THE THREE VINCENT CLUB members who are to be heard in the Salle Moderne of the Statler the coming week, two have sung there before and the third is filling a postponed engagement. Miss Katherine Johnson, daughter of the Howard A. Johnsons of River street, who met with an accident last Monday, and was, therefore, unable to appear in the evening, expects to be recovered by Tuesday, when she will do her "Dinner-at-Eight" number.

She left the hospital on Wednesday to spend Thanksgiving with her family. The beautiful Mrs. Edward Handlin, Jr., of Commonwealth ave., the former Rose Bryant of Milton, the first of the radio society girls to be heard, will sing again this evening.

Miss Serita Bartlett, daughter of the Matthew Bartletts of Gloucester st., has a new number to sing next Wednesday night, and she will possibly repeat "Honey, Are You Making any Money?" which won considerable applause last time. Mr. Denny is afraid he will not be able to remember the girls who came nearest to the specifications for the Radio Debuts, so he is going to have a few repeat engagements while still holding auditions every Wednesday afternoon.

The Blue sisters sang to a capacity audience the holiday eve. They both chose blue gowns, but quite different in style—Harriet's in sapphire blue velvet and Leslie's in bright blue crepe. Their escorts for the evening were Lowell Dillingham and Robert Stewart. Among their many friends who came to hear them sing, costumes ranged from pastel crepes to informal sweaters and skirts.

Chase National

B. C. Forbes of New York, is essentially of the conservative type, seriously-minded, austere rather than affable, of judicial poise bred by legal training and experience.

Like his brother-in-law, John D. Rockefeller, he has been devoted

Son of the late (wealthy) Senator Nelson W. Aldrich—who was called "father of the Federal Reserve"—Banker Aldrich has never labored under pressure to make money by questionable methods.

His manifold interest in charity, philanthropy and other phases of life—apart from business directorships and legal society memberships—can be deduced from this list:

Director	Legal Aid Society,
----------	--------------------

American Society for the Control of Cancer; Nassau Hospital Association Trustee, Barnard College, Riverside Church, Laura Spellman Fund, United Hospital Fund, New York Orthopaedic Hospital and Dispensary. Treasurer and member: Finance Committee, Tuskegee Normal and Industrial Institute.

Normal and Industrial Institute; executive committee, Welfare Council of New York City; Shanghai American School; Girl Scout Federation of Greater New York. Membr.: Board of managers of the Home for Incurables. Two Hundred and Fifty Associates of Harvard Business School; Academy of Political Science; Society of Naval Architects and Marine Managers; American committee of the International Chamber of Commerce; vice-president: State Charities And Association

Born in Providence on Nov. 2, 1885, he graduated from Harvard.

A. B., and, later, Bachelor of Laws. He has astounded the banking world by throwing down the gauntlet to J. P. Morgan & Company and other powerful private banking firms and to national and state bankers by roundly condemning past practices and championing the enactment of drastic banking

Not long ago Aldrich joined the Chase when the Equitable Trust Co. ("a Rockefeller institution")

"If it didn't sound like preaching, my answer would be, 'The only way is to have people of the right character running banks.'"

In view of subsequent disclosures concerning his then superior officer, Albert H. Wiggin, Aldrich's reply takes on infinite significance

Dear, Helpful Aunt Bella:
What would you do with a husband who stays out five nights a week?
